Miſeris Opem Ferre.

AS thoſe two Diſtempers, the Stone and Gravel, have lately been ſo much the Subject of Diſcourſe, I thought I could not at a more proper Time make known a Remedy for thoſe deplorable Evils. Nay, indeed, I ſhould have done it ſooner, had I not been too ſenſible what a cold Reception Advice meets with that is given unaſk'd, occaſion'd by that ill-natur'd Maxim, That what is given freely can be worth little. But the ſerious Conſideration of doing Good in Relieving the Afflicted, determined me to take this Method of publiſhing a Medicine, which by repeated Trials ſeems to promiſe a general Service to Mankind: The Medicine is already prepared to our Hands by one of the moſt induſtrious Animals in Nature, therefore in every one's Power to come at; and as ſuch I eſteem it one of the moſt bounteous Gifts of Providence.

'Tis HONEY; the Quantity from Half an Ounce to two Ounces, to be taken every Day, proportionably to the Age of the Patient, and Violence of the Diſeaſe. Many have taken it in their Chocolate at Breakfaſt, the Morning, when the Stomach is empty, being the beſt time, becauſe it then ſooneſt reaches the urinary Paſſages; others have taken it in Sage Tea; and many (who would not be hinder'd from what they call reliſhing their Breakfaſts) have taken a ſmall Spoonfull of Honey at their firſt riſing, and in an Hour afterwards breakfaſted as uſual; repeating the Doſe again at Night going to bed, where the Supper has been light, and full two Hours before Bed-time. A Toaſt and Honey is an admirable Supper for Children that are troubled with theſe Maladies. It may alſo be taken in boil'd Milk or Water-Gruel for Breakfaſt or Supper. Thus the different Methods of taking this Medicine, and the length of Time for its Courſe, may be varied according to the Palate and Conſtitution of the Patient, always obſerving not to eat any Thing for the Space of an Hour, or more, both before and after taking it.

I would not have it thought by what I have here ſaid, that Honey will diſſolve a Stone either in the Bladder or Kidneys, but only that it will make the paſſing of ſmall Stones and Gravel more eaſy; and alſo prevent the generating of new calculous Matter: This I am convinc'd it has done, not only by my own Experience, but alſo from the Mouths of other Phyſicians, juſtly eminent, of great Knowledge, and moſt extenſive Practice, who have confirm'd the good Succeſs of a conſtant and timely Uſe of this Medicine.

I forbear to ſet my Name to this, becauſe I would avoid all Imputations that either Profit, Vain-Glory, or Oſtentation, have influenced me in this Affair; for all I deſign by it is, that ſo beneficial a Remedy may become of general Uſe.

And if on more numerous Trials, 'tis ſtill found to relieve Human Nature, by leſſening, in ſome degree, the wrecking Severities of a Fit of the Stone, and alſo to prevent the Frequency of their Returns, by lubricating the urinary Paſſages, and thereby hindering the accumulating of freſh Gravel; I ſay, if it doth continue to be thus efficacious, I ſhall then, with the greateſt Satisfaction of Mind, reflect on my making it Publick.

P. S. Perſons labouring under theſe Diſorders ought to be very temperate and cautious in the Uſe of tartarous Wines and high-ſeaſon'd Meats.

WILLIAMSBURG, December 8.

Laſt Sunday arriv'd in York River, the Ship Bobby, Capt. Crane, in about 7 Days from Jekyl Sound in Georgia; by whom we have the following Advices: That the Blandford Man of War, Capt. Burriſh, with General Oglethorpe, and ſeveral Officers; alſo 5 Tranſport Ships, with Soldiers and other Paſſengers, arrived in Georgia, the 18th of September. That they are under no Apprehenſion of a Deſcent from the Spaniards; but that there was a mutinous Diſpoſition among the Soldiers, which had occaſion'd a great Diſturbance, as appears by the following Accounts, dated at Jekyl Sound, the 26th of Nov. laſt. Laſt

Laſt Week the General went from this Place, for the firſt Time, to review the Two Companies at St. Andrews, a Settlement to the South of this Place; at his Arrival there, he ordered the Soldiers under Arms, and after having perform'd ſome little Exerciſe, he diſmiſs'd them, and went to Breakfaſt; where he had not been long, before an Hundred of the Soldiers came into the Fort, where the General was (which is at a little Diſtance from where the Soldiers are encamped) and deſired to ſpeak with him: Upon which the General went out, and the Soldiers and Officers followed him without the Gate of the Fort; there one of the Soldiers, who was Speaker for the reſt, told him, that they wanted their Pay due to them whilſt on their Paſſage; which Mr. Oglethorpe told them, they ſhould have, as ſoon as their Accounts were made up; they then demanded new Beds, and the ſame Allowance of Proviſions, as was given to the Soldiers at Gibraltar: Which being denied, one of them ſwore, by G-d, he would have it: Upon that, the General ordered the Man to be taken and confined; the reſt of the Soldiers then ſaid they would all be confined; and Capt. Mackaw taking hold of him, he laid hold of the Captain's Sword and broke it, and would have ſtabb'd him, had not the Sharp End of the Sword been wreſted out of his Hands; the Fellow upon that ran away for the Camp, and all the Soldiers after him, crying out, to Arms, to Arms for your Rights; the General and Officers ran after them with their Swords drawn, but the Men had got to their Arms, and loaded them, juſt as the General got to the Camp; and the Fellow that was Speaker, levelled his Piece at Mr. Oglethorpe; but Capt Mackaw being by this time come up to the General, with a Muſket in his Hand, fired at the Fellow juſt at the Time the Fellow fired, and as good Luck would have it, the Fellow was ſhot and Mr. Oglethorpe eſcaped; however, the Soldier, tho' ſhot in at the Groin, and thro' the Belly, did not drop, but clubb'd his Piece, in order to knock the General down, but was prevented by a Nephew of the ſaid Capt. Mackaw's who cut him down with a broad Sword; The Man liv'd twelve Hours, and declared, his Intent was to kill Capt. Mackaw and not the General. There was another Soldier ſnapp'd his Firelock at Capt. Debriſay, but (fortunately for him) it did not go off, the Fellow damned the Flint. The Soldiers thus ſeeing the two Ringleaders ſeized by their Officers, came to a Parley with their General, who promiſed to pardon all that retired to their Hutts, which had a very good Effect, for they diſperſed immediately; and the next Day ſix of the Mutineers were brought Priſoners on board the Blandford, they not daring to carry them on ſhore here, having reaſon to expect theſe Soldiers as ripe for Mutiny here, as thoſe at St. Andrews, threatning Papers having been ſtuck up againſt the Major's Tent: And when the News had reach'd this Place, how the People had behaved at St. Andrews, one of the Soldiers, that was then upon the Guard, ſaid they were in the Right, and that, by G-d, he would ſhoot the Colonel, or Capt. Herring. It is expected a Court-Martial will try theſe Men ſoon, when, to be ſure, they will make an Example of ſome of them. --- It is impoſſible for Words to deſcribe the Pains and Fatigue Mr. Oglethorpe takes to ſerve the Soldiers and People ſettled in this Country; and yet, notwithſtanding his great Humanity and Goodneſs, you will find there is no living in this World without having ſome Enemies.

Williamsburgh, Decem. 9. This Day, when the Bill, for continuing the Inſpecting Law, was read the third Time in the Aſſembly, Mr. Conway ſpoke the following Words, viz.

'Mr. Speaker, I am againſt the paſſing of this 'Bill, notwithſtanding the Calculations and De- 'monſtrations offer'd in its Favour. The wor- 'thy Gentleman miſtook me, yeſterday, when 'he ſaid, I would allow none but Planters to be 'good Judges of the Conſequence of this Bill: 'By my Expreſſion I expected it would be plain- 'ly underſtood, that the Burthen and Grievance 'of the Inſpecting Law, affected the Planter in a 'particular manner. I did not ſay, it was not a 'good Law for the Inſpectors, who had raiſed 'their Fortunes by it; I did not ſay, that the 'Warehouſe Rents were low, nor that it would 'be no Advantage to the Owners to continue the 'Law; I did not ſay, that Surveyors, County- 'Court Clerks, and other Officers, would not be 'bettered by it: Such, and many others in Vir- 'ginia, viz. all Merchants that do not trade in 'Tobacco, Tradeſmen, and thoſe that are not 'Planters, may have no reaſon to complain of 'this Law; for they do not bear the Burthen of 'it, nor feel where it pinches; the Rider does 'not diſcern his own Weight, nor feel where the 'Saddle hurts; but the Horſe does, tho' an in- 'ferior Creature: Therefore the Planters, under 'this Law, may be compared to the Horſe; but 'I think it was carrying the Jeſt too far, to com- 'pare them to an Aſs; which was the Conſe- 'quence of their Argument, who affirmed it was 'a good Law for the Planters; tho' upon ſeven 'Years Experience, they complain it is unequal, 'burthenſome and grievous.

'Tis a Happineſs to Virginia, to have in it 'more wiſe Men than Fools; but I think it 'would be wrong to reproach Maryland for not 'following our Example. It muſt be granted, 'that he is a Fool that votes againſt his own In- 'tereſt, when it is conſiſtent with his Oath, his 'Honour, and the Publick Good, to be for it: 'Yet, Sir, I muſt own, that if the Gentlemen for 'the Continuance of the Law for Inſpecting To- 'bacco, are right, I am that Fool. I know that 'the wiſe Man ſays, tho' you bray a Fool in a Mor- 'tar, he will not depart from his Folly: If it be my 'Lot to bear ſuch a Reproach, I muſt ſubmit to 'it; but the Example of thoſe who have changed 'their Opinions (who owned by their Vote this 'Seſſion, that the Foundation of the Law was 'ſuch, that, upon ſeven Years Experience had 'convinced them, it was not poſſible to make a 'good Law upon it) I hope will not fairly bring 'me under the Cenſure of being an obſtinate 'Fool; but whether it will or not, I am ſincere- 'ly againſt the paſſing of this Bill; and I am ſure 'my Opinion is grounded on a good Conſcience, 'and, I think, on good Reaſon too.

After

After which, the Queſtion was put, and the Bill paſſed. On dividing, there were 39 Yeas, and 32 Noes.

Decem. 22. Yeſterday the Buſineſs of this Seſſion of the General Aſſembly, being brought to a Concluſion, His Honour the Governour was pleaſed to ſend a Meſſage in the Evening, to the Houſe of Burgeſſes, commanding their immediate Attendance in the Council Chamber: Mr. Speaker, with the Houſe, went up accordingly. And the Governor was pleaſed to give his Aſſent to 25 publick and private Bills.

His Honour was alſo pleaſed to aſſent to the following Reſolves of the Houſe of Burgeſſes, which had had the Concurrence of the Council, viz.

Reſolved, That the Sum of One Hundred Pounds be paid to Mr. John Tennent, for publiſhing his Diſcovery of the Uſe of the Seneca Rattleſnake-Root.

Reſolved, That the ſaid Sum be paid him out of the publick Money in the Hands of the Treaſurer.

Reſolved, That an additional Salary of Eighty Pounds per Annum, be paid to William Parks, Printer, to commence from the laſt Day of this Inſtant.

Then his Honour was pleaſed to make the following SPEECH.

Gentlemen of the Council, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Burgeſſes.

AS I have been always led, by Inclination, as well as Duty, to ſtudy, for the ſake of the Inhabitants, the Proſperity of this Colony, in the Improvement of our Staple; I thought it abſolutely neceſſary, at the Opening of this Seſſion, to ſhew a particular Regard to that Method for the Management of it, whereby their Intereſt and Credit have been ſo ſignally ſecured and preſerved: And tho' thoſe juſt and equitable Meaſures have not yet gained the Acceptance of many worthy Members, That muſt not leſſen them in my Eſteem, ſince by the Diſcernment of Moſt, they are found, after ſeven Years Trial, ſo well ſuited to the Circumſtances of our Trade, as to obtain the ſeaſonable Concurrence of this Aſſembly, for their Continuance.

AND altho' your commendable Endeavours to make ſuch Alterations in the Law, as were judged reaſonable to give Satisfaction, could not be brought to anſwer every particular Demand; if in general they prove available, your Conduct will be applauded. And now, by a Conceſſion due to the Support of ſo wholeſome an Eſtabliſhment, the Juſtices in the ſeveral Counties, have the Nomination, I might almoſt ſay the Appointment, of the Inſpectors, committed to them; if they will but countenance and encourage thoſe neceſſary Officers in their Employments, I am perſuaded, their miſtaken Neighbours will the ſooner be convinced, how much an indulgent Reſtraint, on which their own and the Publick Welfare depend, is to be preferred to Liberty, ſo deſtructive to both.

Gentlemen,

THERE are ſo many Witneſſes to the Prudence and Moderation of all your Proceedings, which I have with Pleaſure and Approbation ſo often obſerved, that I need not tell the World what Reſpect is due to you on that Account: And therefore I ſhall detain you no longer than to own, that my Thanks are too poor an Acknowledgement for the Services you have done your King and Country, and much more ſo, for the remarkable Inſtance of your Zeal for the Glory of God: But wiſhing all of you a merry Chriſtmaſs, an happy New Year, and many of them, I will only add, that I have thought fit to prorogue this Aſſembly to the Third Thurſday in May next; and this Aſſembly is accordingly prorogued to that time.
